

House Approves Changes Made By Senate in Plan For Muscle Shoals Lease

Two Additional Amendments Are Added by Lower House for Approval by Senate.

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—With out a record vote, the house today adopted the senate amendments to a resolution to create a congressional commission to negotiate for leasing of government properties at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

Before taking this action, however, the house itself added amendments to those made by the senate which necessitate return of the resolution to that body for final approval.

By its action the house agreed sending the resolution to conference between the two houses, which procedure house leaders feared might result in a deadlock among the conferees.

Time Is Extended. As approved today, the resolution carries the two senate amendments which extend from April 1 to April 20, the time for the proposed commission to consider bids and also gives the commission option powers to recommend more than one bid, if deemed advisable. House amendments require that any lease recommended must recognize as a matter of prime importance the manufacture of nitrates and fertilizers and also that a "true copy" of each bid considered must be submitted to congress.

Consideration of the resolution precipitated debate in the house, Representative La Guardia, progressive-socialist, New York, and Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, asserting that congress probably would accept whatever lease the commission might recommend and that for this reason approval of the resolution amounted to virtually a final vote on the shoals proposition. La Guardia charged there was no time to consider the resolution for any group to adequately consider a bid for the properties and that the "logical conclusion is that the lease is written now and is being written."

"You are asked today," he said, "to give away the most priceless possession of the United States. It should be operated for the purpose of fertilizers and nitrates. No corporation is in business for love and philanthropy. Let the department operate the nitrates plants."

Representative Wingo, democrat, of Arkansas, intimated that there might be some ground for belief of La Guardia's denunciations about a lease being written, but said he made no charges.

Representative Garrett, Tennessee, democratic leader, who urged acceptance of the senate amendments, said he knew nothing of any agreement or possible lease for properties as did Chairman Snell, of the house rules committee, who was in charge of the resolution.

Asked by Blanton if he knew of a case where congress had rejected a recommendation of a commission similar to the one proposed, Garrett said that this case was without parallel and he could not recall any case where congress had rejected a recommendation of a commission and that this should be done.

Representative Hill, democrat, Alabama, endorsed the senate amendments, saying that the senate amendments, he said, were the best that could be made and that he would support them.

While the secretary declined to discuss the negotiations today in details, it was stated that the French debt is the largest remaining to be settled by the debt commission. Several ineffectual efforts have been made to settle the debt, but the French debt is the largest remaining to be settled by the debt commission.

It is believed, therefore, that the French negotiations will not be hastened until the senate acts on the pending debt bill.

Simple home treatment made short work of crick in neck.

Don't let muscular pain disable you and cause you hours of suffering. You can get rid of it quickly with a simple and easy home treatment.

Here is a letter telling how one woman treated successfully a very severe case of crick in the neck.

"I could hardly move from stiffness and pain," she writes. "I used Sloan's Liniment and that was the end of it."

It is amazing how quickly and surely Sloan's takes the pain and stiffness out of any aching muscle. Just a few drops rubbed on lightly—and pain and stiffness melt away.

The fresh healing blood that Sloan's sends to the sick tissues washes out poisons, breaks up congestion, drives out pain. Relief is then immediate and complete.

So clean, pleasant, and easy to use. You don't even have to rub it in—the medicine itself does the work. Try it! All druggists—35 cents.

WET SOLOON HURLS LIFE AT LEAGUE

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Representative Celler, democrat, New York, in a statement today said he desired to "nail as a lie the statement of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon league that friends of prohibition as a rule do not participate in unofficial newspaper polls on prohibition."

"In this sly manner they endeavor," he said, "to discount in advance an assured anti-prohibition vote."

The Anti-Saloon league knows it is defeated, and like a whipped dog now has its tail between its legs. Some people may be guilty of moral turpitude, but the Anti-Saloon league is guilty of moral turpitude.

Mr. Celler charged in the prohibition referendum conducted by The Denver Post the Colorado Anti-Saloon league and other dry organizations "made frantic appeals to the people to get out and vote, and ballot boxes were placed in a large number of churches."

"The newspaper conducting that poll," he said, "was a dry paper, and nevertheless the Rocky Mountain region is against prohibition four to one and for wine and beer more than four to one."

A Congressman Timberlake, of Colorado, nevertheless, said Colorado is "dry." One of the judges of that contest, Spencer Pearson, has sent me the following telegram from Denver:

"Mr. Timberlake is wrong when he said today in the house that Colorado is dry and the late poll means nothing. The poll was absolutely accurate, and the wets won four and a half to one."

OLIVER INTRODUCES WET AMENDMENT. Washington, March 11.—(AP)—A bill was introduced today by Representative Oliver, democrat, New York, to amend the national prohibition act by permitting states to modify it to the extent of allowing more liberal alcoholic content for beer and wine.

States would not be allowed to adopt enactments conflicting with the eighteenth amendment.

Changes in the plans of the fight for the life of their clients was announced. It is pointed out following the death recently of J. W. Murphy, upon whom the defense depended in a large measure, it is understood, for new evidence upon which to ask for a new trial.

The statement by attorneys point out that they now are unable to press their petition for a new trial because they would be unable to "present the witness in court" since Mr. Murphy died.

Attorney William Schley Howard presented an extraordinary motion March 5 for a new trial based upon the fact that the newly discovered evidence to show that the accused youths were approximately 100 miles from the scene of the murder when it transpired.

Motion Filed March 5. This motion was offered Judge Park at Greenboro, N. C., and declined to consider it until the coming regular term of Putnam superior court, Attorney Howard asserted.

In the meantime, attorneys point out alleged conflicting testimony in emphasizing the innocence of their clients, citing that testimony in the trial was to the effect that the body of Professor Wright was found in a ditch, and that blood was scattered about the car and that bushes close by body showed heavy traces of blood.

No witnesses, attorneys point out, testified that the clothing of Coggeshall or McClelland was bloody, although all three boys said they were not wearing any clothing.

Attorneys are unable to reconcile the blood about the car and in the ditch with the fact that the boys were not wearing any clothing.

Now that the principal witness has died, Mr. Howard said, it is impossible to press the extraordinary motion and for that reason has decided to appeal directly to the prison commission for commutation of death sentence.

File Application Today. The application is expected to be filed today in the offices of the prison commission, Attorney Howard stated Thursday night.

Coggeshall, McClelland and Sam Scarborough are accused of foully murdering Professor Wright after the latter had stopped to offer them a lift in his car on a road near Canton, N. C. It is claimed in the confession of Scarborough, that the Putnam dealer was attacked and so severely beaten that he died a few hours later.

Scarborough was given a life sentence while the other two boys drew death sentences.

Coggeshall's parents and a sister arrived in Atlanta last Saturday to "continue the fight" for their son, stopping here for conferences with attorneys and continuing on to Macon Monday, where they saw their son.

Gone Is Splendor of Old Gambling Dens in Gotham

BY FRANK GETTY. New York, March 11.—The splendor of the days of Canfield, the famous gambler for whom the game of solitaire was named, has gone from the gambling houses of New York.

In its place has come a shabby atmosphere, more feverish perhaps, since the stakes now run higher than in the old days, but lacking that touch of "gentility," of ornateness, which characterized the business of separating the unwary from his bank roll a score of years ago.

The gambling houses, against which District Attorney Banton and Police Commissioner McLaughlin are directing their temporarily successful campaign, are no longer the splendidly decorated establishments such as those in which the late Reggie Vanderbilt and many another wealthy New Yorker was "taken."

Evening dress no longer is required. Liveried menials, proffering champagne and pate de fois gras, belong to the gambling of the past.

New York's gambling houses now run principally to the "old army game" of "crap" and the scientific study of stud poker. Roulette is largely a thing of the past, except when a "sucker" is in tow. Half a dozen houses still have roulette wheels, gathering dust in some neglected spot until a tout brings in a "big butter and egg man" ambitious for a "flutter."

Perhaps the most famous gambling place in New York still operating is located just north of the "roaring forties," that section of the metropolis sometimes known as the "gay white way." Two heavy steel doors bar the entrance, unless one is properly introduced.

Less attention than in the old days is paid to the entertainment of patrons, but there still is whisky and sandwiches to be had for the asking, and a majority of the gambling houses are run in conjunction with a well-equipped bar.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES. Washington, March 11.—In entering an investigation into the tariff commission—the first important inquiry this year and probably the only one—the senate has opened the door to possible developments which may be embarrassing to President Coolidge and the administration.

Democrats, at least, hope for material for the congressional campaign this fall out of the thorough probe which the senate ordered Thursday.

The resolution by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, democratic floor leader, which was adopted without a record vote Thursday, was broadened to inquire specifically as to whether attempts had been made by officials or others to influence the findings of the commission. This was provided in an amendment by Senator Norris, Nebraska, republican, who presented documentary evidence to the senate several weeks ago to substantiate his charge that President Coolidge, in different ways, had attempted to influence the work of the commission on the sugar tariff.

Requested Resignation. Senator Robinson, author of the resolution, touched just recently on another disclosure by Norris, that President Coolidge had requested a blanket resignation from former Commissioner Lewis, when requesting him, which Lewis refused.

Under the resolution, the investigation will be conducted by a special committee to be composed of two republicans, one "progressive" republican and two democrats. The committee is ordered to investigate how the flexible tariff provision is being administered by the commission, how the commission proceeds, and what its methods are in ascertaining the cost of production in other countries. It will have access to all books and papers of the commission and will examine members. As to whether Coolidge will be called home from Tumamoc to testify regarding alleged pressure brought upon him by the president and others is not known.

Republicans Oppose. Republicans did not consent without a fight to broadening the inquiry into inclusion of investigation of official influence. There were 30 votes against Norris' amendment, which was voted for by 28.

Some republicans also objected to the designation of a "progressive" republican on the committee, contending that no line should be drawn between republicans and democrats and an amendment by Senator Bingham, Connecticut, republican, striking out the objectionable designation, was defeated 41 to 23.

Republican appeals that the investigation be made by the senate finance committee, headed by Senator Smoot of Utah, republican, who has been friendly to sugar interests. "You can't investigate the sugar tariff without investigating the senator from Utah," Norris declared.

NEW CRISIS SEEN IN TACNA-ARICA

Arica, Chile, March 11.—(AP)—A new crisis has arisen in the Tacna-Arica plebiscite proceedings, which again threaten to bring to an end the effort to settle the historic territorial controversy between Chile and Peru in which President Coolidge is acting as arbitrator.

With the registration of voters for the intended plebiscite fixed for March 15, Peru, complaining that sufficient protection for her voters from Chilean violence has not yet been established, has demanded of General William Lassiter, neutral chairman of the plebiscite commission, that the date of registration be indefinitely postponed.

The American commission has been told, it is understood, that if it is to postpone the Peru purpose to withdraw from the plebiscite proceedings.

Today a communication from Washington was received by General Lassiter over which he and his legal advisers held a long conference. The nature was not disclosed.

General Lassiter thus far has taken the position that the registration of voters should proceed as scheduled and the Chileans have refused to have the execution of the guarantees taken out of their hands. General Lassiter has yet to give his answer to the Peruvian demand.

REVOLT IN CORN BELT THREATENED

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Another rumble of threatened political trouble in the corn belt was heard today by the house agriculture committee, which is conducting hearings on a farm relief bill.

William Hirth, of Missouri, chairman of the corn belt committee, sent to Washington by midwestern farm organizations, told the committee bluntly that the republican party would be held to account if it failed to enact suitable farm relief legislation. He added that, though the chief responsibility lay with the majority, "we have the right to expect the help of democrats in congress."

He then quoted an extract from the republican platform of 1924, pledging the party to "enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests on a basis of equality with other industries to insure its prosperity and success."

"Possibly," he continued, "those who wrote this resolution do not expect it to be taken seriously by the farmers—possibly it was intended to be nothing more than political appeasement—but some millions of farm people are entitled to take it seriously and voted for Mr. Coolidge and for republican members of congress in the belief that it was a solemn pledge and that it would be faithfully kept."

Those who regarded lightly the recent farm relief conferences at Des Moines, he said, "will do so at their peril."

FAVRE AWAITING REMOVAL TO PEN

Bay St. Louis, Miss., March 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jesse Favre was in jail here today awaiting removal to the Mississippi penitentiary to serve a life sentence for slaying J. A. McLeone, a federal entomologist. Newspaper men who had been instrumental in bringing Favre's case to the attention of the Mississippi penitentiary, were ordered to refrain from publishing testimony developed in the trial of Favre, concluded yesterday, have returned to their homes without contempt proceedings being instituted against them, as had been considered probable.

In disposing of the case Judge Walter A. White, presiding, announced that the question of the liberty of the press could not properly be determined by a test of the newspapers' disregard of his order since anticipated cases had not developed. He had explained previously that the order was intended to prevent failure of the court to select intelligent men to serve on juries and had been expected to try cases in the future in which the same evidence might be involved.

Washington's Beer Recipe Now in Congressional Record

Washington, March 11.—Should drys attempt to prosecute newspapers or modifications for distribution of George Washington's beer recipe, the federal government would be forced to join the group of defendants.

The much-abused recipe has found its way quietly into the congressional record. It was published in the issue of March 1, but so deftly was it inserted, that the fact was not known until Wednesday.

The recipe in full was buried in an extension of remarks by Representative Celler, New York democrat, who ostensibly was speaking on the question of government participation in the Philadelphia sesquicentennial.

Celler's remarks were semi-historical in nature, his theme being the relation of Thomas Jefferson to American independence. To provide a picturesque setting for the recipe, he discussed the more frivolous characteristics of such leaders of the early days of American independence as Madison, Jefferson, Hamilton and Washington.

"And our good friend Jefferson had his moments when he could be quite frivolous with the ladies," Celler said among other things. "When he went to France, he was asked by Mrs. Smith, daughter of John Adams, to procure for her two pairs of corsets. He wrote to her from France as follows:

"Mr. Jefferson has the honor to present his compliments to Mrs. Smith and to send her the two pairs of corsets she desires. He wishes they may be suitable as Mrs. Smith omitted to send her measure. Times have altered since Mademoiselle De Sanon had the honor of knowing her; should they be too small, however, she will be so good as to lay them by awhile. There are ebbs as well as flows in this world."

U. S. BOND ISSUE OVERSUBSCRIBED

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—The $500,000,000 offering of 20-30-year bonds by the government was oversubscribed by $100,000,000, it was estimated tonight by treasury officials, who ordered the subscription books closed.

Satisfactory response also has been made to the treasury's offer to purchase the third Liberty loan bonds direct from holders for retirement March 15.

The bond issue was announced Monday by Secretary Mellon and the lowest proposed on a government issue since the war, with the exception of the first Liberty issue, which was wholly exempt from taxation.

Despite the oversubscription, the treasury plans to keep the allotment close to the $500,000,000 figure, which is expected with the quarterly tax payments to be sufficient to retire $120,000,000 in third Liberty bonds and $615,000,000 in short term securities maturing March 15.

Under Secretary Winston said the bids for the bond issue were received from all parts of the country.

French Poke Gibes at U. S. Blue Sunday

Paris, March 11.—Poking fun at the movement in America for a nationwide blue sabbath, the widely-circulated French paper, La Volonte, giving voice to a viewpoint common in France, avers:

"The Americans are wonderful. They always manage to give us something to laugh at, and that, by the way, is not the only thing they give us. The Americans tell us what liberties they enjoy. It appears that outside of being forbidden to drink what they want, think what they want, and love whom they please, they have a right to do anything they like. Especially it is very much in vogue to pile up a fortune. Every American is supposed to do that. Did you ever meet one over here who was not a millionaire pork king or something?"

"Now they have given us a real treat. They want Sunday blue laws. The people behind this move would suppress everything—trains, newspapers, telegraph, telephone, theaters and sunlight. Murderers cannot put their hands on Sunday. Babies must wait till Monday to be born, the dying must wait until Monday to breathe their last—everything can wait except the French debt. And they say the Americans once fought for liberty!"

GREAT BRITAIN CUTS EXPENSES

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and the Chicago Tribune.)

London, March 11.—The British attention turned to government economy today with the publication of the economy bill and army and civil service estimates following the coal report yesterday. It is estimated that this year will show a saving of 1 percent in the national expenditure, amounting to $325,000,000, against a budget of nearly $1,000,000,000, the trivialness of which already is arousing criticism, who describe the economy bill as tortuous and incomprehensible and worse than a Chinese puzzle.

More important is the fact that the army estimates are down $10,000,000, the sum asked being $212,000,000. The estimates show that the British army, exclusive of India, totals 462,000 men.

There is a reduction of $60,000,000 in the civil service estimates. The economy bill aims to reduce expenditures, such as cutting down the funds for health insurance, unemployment insurance, election costs and education, and increasing the revenue by stamping letters and merchant shipping fees, but it is pointed out that the bill is baffling until explained in the parliamentary debates.

The army strength shows a decrease of 1,200 men during the year and the upkeep is cut from the sum of $311,000,000 in 1922 to $212,000,000 this year, a reduction of more than 33 percent.

About $1,500,000,000 is asked by the civil service and revenue departments, including $95,000,000 for coal conservation. Only small increases are asked by the government departments, such as the home office and foreign office, while more is asked by the department of education, the recommendations to cut the economy bills, which is a kind of revision of the existing revenue.

About $5,000,000 more is asked for agriculture, while the estimate for unemployment recommendation drops $2,500,000, and a slight saving is also shown in the department of overseas trade. Prisons and reformatory schools estimates are reduced $115,000,000. The police estimates, on the other hand, are increased $1,000,000.

Leaky Radiator Found on Plane In Polar Flight

(Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Fairbanks, Alaska, March 11.—The first serious obstacle which has fallen in the way of the flying division of the Detroit Arctic expedition descended from a clear sky today when it was discovered that the radiator of the Liberty engine of one of the two Fokker monoplane is a sieve so leaky that the mechanics, instead of trying to patch the many holes, believe they must chuck all the tubes in the eighth of the circular honeycomb with solder, if the radiator is to hold sufficient water and glycerine to cool the engine.

The radiator was removed from the engine frame and taken to a local garage, where the mechanics are at work tonight with blow torches and soldering irons, in an attempt to mend the smaller of the two planes will have an imperfect link which must be closely watched on the long flights it must take in freighting supplies from Fairbanks to Point Barrow. There is no replacement radiator to be had nearer than McCook field, the army flying station at Dayton, Ohio. The Russians were here at the Fokker works in Holland. It is believed here that the radiator was defective when it was shipped from Europe. Plans for test flights of both ships were postponed today, pending repairs to the radiator.

Watson Predicts No Senate Action On Rail Mergers

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Predictions that no action will be taken at this session of congress on railroad consolidation was made today by Chairman Watson, of the senate interstate commerce committee after a conference with President Coolidge, who has urged enactment of such legislation.

The senate leaders, Mr. Watson said, are not in a hurry to take action, is modifying his proposal and is expected to present it to the interstate commerce committee Saturday. Mr. Watson said the provision to require compulsory consolidation after three years would be extended to five or seven years, or abrogated entirely.

AGED PLANTER HELD AS POLICE PROBE SHOOTING OF WIFE

Clarksdale, Miss., March 11.—(AP)—T. C. Cox, 64, former Arkansas planter, was being held by the sheriff here tonight while investigation was being made of the circumstances surrounding the shooting of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Cox, 38, who was shot and fatally wounded in her hotel room here today shortly before the coroner's inquest. Cox was held to assist in the investigation of the shooting.

Cox is quoted as explaining that the shooting was accidental—that the bullet which struck the woman in the heart was fired when a cartridge in the pistol he was handling was accidentally discharged as he attempted to remove the cylinder of the weapon. The couple came to Clarksdale several days ago, registering at the hotel. It was stated, as "Mrs. T. T. Bateman" and "T. C. Scott," the woman who registered for both, explaining that Scott was her uncle. At her request they were assigned a double room.

Cox declared, however, that the woman was his wife, that they were married in Memphis several months ago, that prior to their marriage, her name was Mrs. Elizabeth Quarrels and that she formerly lived in Texas.

MAY DENY PARDON TO DEBTS UNLESS HE ASKS FOR IT

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—The unwillingness of Eugene V. Debs to apply personally for a full pardon may cost the socialist leader his hope of being restored to citizenship.

Representative Berger, socialist, Wisconsin, today urged Attorney General Sargent to consider favorable restoration to Mr. Debs of his civil rights. He presented a similar plea to President Coolidge yesterday on behalf of Debs, whose sentence for violation of the espionage act during the war was commuted in 1921.

While not making a decision, Mr. Sargent indicated Debs would have to apply for pardon personally, following the usual procedure.

"That is like asking a Methodist to seek a pardon from being a Methodist," replied Berger. "Debs doesn't think he has done anything to be pardoned for."

Chaperone Prevents Princess Climbing Up Chimney Rock

Chimney Rock, N. C., March 11.—The iron-clad mandate of a cruel chaperone prevented a princess from ascending the dizzy heights of Chimney Rock and looking down upon the world from this giant monolith, evidently awe-inspiring to the English god mother, accompanying this daughter of French royalty.

The Princess de Rohan, and party, traveling by English motor limousine, chaperoned by Mrs. A. T. Wrench, who is an English woman, of London, motored from Asheville to see Chimney Rock. Upon arrival in sight of the rock, piercing skyward to the clouds, Mrs. Wrench decided that it looked too dangerous to permit the princess to ascend, she explained to the princess in French the many dangers of mountain climbing in America, and the responsibility she personally had in preventing her from being subjected to sudden changes or dangers. They returned to the Kenilworth inn.

SHIP BOARD CONSIDERS REPAIRS TO AMERICA

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Advised by President Crowley, of the fleet corporation, that damage to the United States line steamer America, burned yesterday at Newport News, Va., probably would amount to $2,000,000, the shipping board set out today to determine the quickest and least expensive way to provide the trans-Atlantic service for which she was being reconditioned.

A comparative study was ordered to determine the time and money needed for reconditioning the America, the Agamemnon and Mount Vernon vessels suitable for similar service now laid up at Norfolk. Either of the latter two, it has been estimated, could be conditioned for about $2,500,000. All three are owned by the government.

TESTIMONY OPENS IN MARSHALL TRIAL

Philadelphia, March 11.—(AP)—Sitting dull-eyed and rigid before the jury today, David L. Marshall heard District Attorney Charles Edwin Fox quote his own description of the slaying of Anna May Dietrich as "the work of a fiend." Marshall showed no emotion when Fox asked for a verdict of murder in the first degree and the death penalty for "this murderer." He watched Mr. Fox twine his fingers about the neck of the assistant district attorney as he enacted the state's version of the killing.

Selecting Marshall's alleged confession as the "true story," the district attorney then told of the severing of the head and legs in the chiropractor's office, the hiding of the parts in Delaware county, their discovery two days later, of Marshall's arrest, and his confession that he had choked the woman to death because of her alleged threat to expose their relations.

Marshall's trial got under way after four days of choosing a jury, the last three members of which were obtained in half an hour. Four panels of 146 men were examined before the jury was completed. Women were barred as jurors by agreement of counsel.

The district attorney's address revealed several things heretofore unknown to the public. On the day of her death, he said, Miss Dietrich carried a photograph of Marshall and had told a friend that he "would not let her go to a dance the next day with another man." This photograph, Mr. Fox declared, was the only one of her possessions found after her death.

He said that jewelry and $150 she had with her had never been found. "Marshall called Alexander Schull, Miss Dietrich's brother-in-law, the day after the body was found," said the district attorney, "and said it was 'surely the work of a fiend.' And that is the commonwealth's theory. It was the work of a fiend. And for that reason we ask you for a verdict of murder in the first degree, with the death penalty."

Taking of testimony was started at the conclusion of Mr. Fox's address. Only four witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Schull, George H. Ribby, coroner of Delaware county, and a police photographer, were examined. Their testimony related chiefly to incidents preceding the disappearance of Miss Dietrich and to the identification of the body.

JURY FREES LOVER ACCUSED IN DEATH OF SLAIN HUSBAND

Elizabeth, N. J., March 11.—A verdict of not guilty late Thursday closed the dramatic trial of Joseph Cowen, an iron worker accused of killing William J. Clark with a mason's hammer on the early morning of November 3.

All the elements craved by courtroom thrill-seekers were in the trial—a triangle with a pretty wife at the apex, a brutal striking down of the husband from behind and the arrest of the alleged lover.

During the trial Cowen had admitted that he was a friend of the Clark family and that on several occasions he had stolen kisses from Mrs. Priscilla Clark. At the time of the murder, he said, he was in the room with the crime, having stalled his car in Newark.

Professor Kanamori speaks at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon; Dr. Torrey is slated to address the conference at 7:30 o'clock tonight; Dr. Robinson at 11 o'clock this morning; Bishop Candler at 2:30 o'clock, and Dr. Philpott at 8:30 o'clock.

The Japanese evangelist is known as "the man with one sermon," and has conducted successful campaigns in all parts of Japan visiting 40 out of 47 provinces in his native land.

Japan's 'Billy Sunday' Speaks At Bible Conference Today

Addresses by Professor Paul Kanamori, noted evangelist of the Orient and known as the "Billy Sunday of Japan," and Dr. P. W. Philpott, pastor of Moody church, Chicago, and a "question hour" for ministers will feature sessions of the Bible conference today.

She related her experiences and appealed for foreign missions. Her address was followed by the seventh of a series of sermons on "The Church of the New Testament," by Dr. Robertson, an authority on New Testament scriptures and for years an instructor of New Testament interpretation at the seminary.

Miss Sara Funderburch, also a missionary from China, spoke briefly preceding the sermon of Dr. Torrey which featured the afternoon service.

Dr. Philpott, pastor of the Chicago church founded by the renowned evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, delivered the first address at the night service Thursday.

The outstanding feature of the session Thursday was the sermon at 8:30 o'clock by Professor Kanamori. The speaker gave the history of his life in a gripping way, telling of his conversion, his ministry, of his departure from the "fold of Christianity and his reclamation." He emphatically denounced the "new theology and higher criticism" of the Christian faith, declaring that these would wreck Christians' faith in the Deity.

Former Assistant Attorney General Dies Suddenly

Columbus, Ohio, March 11.—(AP)—Augustus T. Seymour, former assistant attorney general of the United States, dropped dead here today.

He was born at Nebraska City, Neb., in 1863 and was graduated from Ohio State university in 1885. Mr. Seymour had been a member of the Ohio bar for many years. When Harry M. Dougherty was appointed attorney general of the United States by President Harding, he was appointed assistant attorney general and represented the government in many important cases.

CONFUSION IN NAMES IN ACCIDENT REPORT

Mrs. J. H. Crawford, of 276 Cresthill avenue, has asked The Constitution to correct information contained in the published account in Thursday's paper of an automobile and motorcycle collision at Ponce de Leon and Linwood avenues, in which John Luckabee, of 207 Whitehall street, was injured.

In the story Mrs. Crawford was reported to be the driver of the automobile, which information is contained in the written report of Special Officer Harry Sweet to the captain of police.

Mrs. Crawford states that this information is incorrect and that it is possible the confusion was brought about by the fact that the party to whom she sold her automobile many months ago may be using the tag that was issued to her.

More Help For The Housewife

In this day and age when time is a most essential factor in business and domestic life, the most efficient and thoughtful housewife avails herself of those things which serve to expedite her daily routine.

For the simplification of milady's shopping requirements, The Constitution recently inaugurated an idea which has crystallized into a most important department.

COOLIDGE URGED TO GIVE PARDON TO L. P. SUMMERS

Richmond, Va., March 10.—(AP)—President Coolidge was petitioned to pardon L. P. Summers, former United States district attorney, for the western district of Virginia from the 15-months penitentiary sentence given him upon conviction for violation of section 35 of the penal code of the United States in a petition signed by 137 members of the general assembly.

The petition expressed the belief that even were Mr. Summers guilty of approving certain vouchers he was charged with approving his punishment was more than sufficient for the offense. It declared that his confinement in prison would not advance the public interest and would only add additional humiliation to his wife and children.

COMPLETE NUDITY DOES NOT SHOCK GERMAN PEOPLE

New York, March 11.—(AP)—Complete female nudity on the stage causes less protest from German theatergoers than when the actresses are three-quarters or seven-eighths nude. Dr. Albrecht Claus, head of the Berlin police, said today on his arrival on the liner Bremen.

"When women were very little clothing we received many complaints," he said. "Since they are appearing with no clothes at all, we have received very few complaints. Women appear to be as interested as men in the female form as presented in some of the Berlin theaters."

De Valera Quits As President Of Sinn Feiners

BY FRANK GETTY.
New York, March 11.—Eamon DeValera, for 10 years the most troublesome thorn in the paw of the British lion, has left Sinn Fein.

To thousands of Irish-Americans who still hold the worthless bonds of the republic of Ireland, bearing the flourish signature of the scholarly rebel as its first president, the news is little short of astonishing.

It was 10 years ago this coming Easter week that DeValera assumed leadership of the age-old fight for Irish independence. He was the spirit of rebellion incarnate. When other Irish leaders of broader vision compromised, this academic, ascetic, DeValera, who had always held out relentlessly against participation by Irish republicans in the Irish parliament, denounced them and fought on.

Cables from Ireland bear the news that DeValera, who had always held out relentlessly against participation by Irish republicans in the Irish parliament, denounced them and fought on. DeValera, who had always held out relentlessly against participation by Irish republicans in the Irish parliament, denounced them and fought on.

For two days, in secret conclave, the republican general assembly debated this proposal. Then they rejected it by a margin of five votes, and DeValera resigned the presidency of Sinn Fein. His influence over Irish republicans ended at the same moment.

DeValera, as those orders hundreds of ardent Irish rebels went unhesitatingly to their death for a hopeless cause, is where he was 10 years ago, a school teacher in one of the ecclesiastical colleges of Dublin. The spark of freedom passes to less conspicuous hands.

YOUNG CRIMINALS KIDNAPING GIRLS TO SELL IN CHINA

Moscow, March 11.—(AP)—Young criminals in the Irkutsk district of Siberia are kidnapping young girls and selling them to Chinese, says a dispatch to the Young Communist Truth from Irkutsk today.

In one instance a youth kidnapped a 17-year-old girl and took her across the Chinese border, where he sold her to a Chinese for $25. Fearing the same fate the girls of that district now refuse to go on the streets after dark. In another village a 15-year-old girl was carried off and sold to a Chinese for $8 and 50 pounds of flour.

Body of Atlantan Drowned in Miami Arrives Here Friday

The body of William Armbrust, of Brookhaven Heights, who was drowned in Miami March 9 when he fell from a houseboat, will arrive in Atlanta this morning. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock this afternoon and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery, with Avery & Lowndes in charge.

Mr. Armbrust is survived by his wife, a little son, Charles; a daughter, Miss Louise Armbrust; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armbrust, of Atlanta; a brother, Paul Armbrust, and a sister, Mrs. Ollis Hill, of Newnan, Ga.

British medical authorities are worried by the persistent increase in sleeping sickness among school children, and by its serious after effects, particularly on conduct and character.

PRESIDENT'S FATHER WORSE, SAYS DOCTOR

Plymouth, Vt., March 11.—(AP)—Colonel John C. Coolidge was reported in a weakened condition by his physician tonight, and his state of health appeared less satisfactory than at any time in the last few days.

Dr. Albert W. Cram, the aged man's physician, said the colonel's heart condition was not quite so good as usual. The patient was suffering very little pain, Dr. Cram added, but his appetite was not good, and it was evident that the colonel was weaker.

Colonel Coolidge has been ill for several months with heart block, which caused faulty circulation and the loss of the use of his legs. He has been suffering considerable pain since last Sunday. Now more than 80 years old, Colonel Coolidge has been suffering from the aftermath of a heart affection he has had for many years. Dr. Cram has visited him several times each week recently and telephone frequently from his home in Bridgewater to keep close tab on his condition.

Democratic Party Destined To Win, Says Tennessean

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—The battle that the democratic party "has survived defeat after defeat and is destined for victory and control," was sounded in the house today by Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, democratic leader in that body.

The party "shall live to win again," he said, "by adherence to principles that have remained essentially the same since laid down by Jefferson more than a century ago."

Reciting in detail the political history of the United States, he asserted two-party government had proven its value against all attempts to change it since Hamilton and Jefferson "crystallized our principal divisions of political faith." All the chief issues of today, he added, are comprehended within the declarations of these early leaders.

The name democrat originally applied in derision, he continued, but has now become the proud boast of believers in a fundamental principle.

Overlapping of platforms has merely served to perpetuate the elemental principles of each party, he declared, other organizations growing up about temporary issues, but dying out as these demands paled with the passing of the situations that created them.

Washington was not a political man during his terms of office, the democratic leader, continued, but later there was support to John Adams. The early federalist could have been more properly called nationalists, he said, outlining the democratic trend since that time for insistence upon states' rights.

"We are ashamed of no leader in our history," he declared. "All of our presidents have been lions' cubs."

William Cander Will Head Body to Direct Expenditure of City's $8,000,000 Bonds

Seventeen Prominent Citizens Appointed by Mayor Sims To Direct Spending of Fund.

Selection of 17 prominent Atlantans as members of the bond commission to supervise expenditure of the proposed $8,000,000 city bond issue, and added endorsements of influential organizations Thursday featured the opening of the drive to assure passage of the entire issue, it was announced from bond campaign headquarters at the city hall.

William Cander, leading Atlanta capitalist, was named temporary chairman of the commission, Mayor Walter A. Sims, stated in making public names of those composing the board. The mayor selected the commission in accordance with a resolution passed March 8 by city council.

The committee is composed of one member from each of the 12 wards of the city and five from the city at large. It is as follows:

First ward, E. A. Wachendorf; second, J. R. Jordan; third, W. A. Yerxa; fourth, W. L. Hancock; fifth, T. H. Buckalew; sixth, Henderson Hallman; seventh, R. L. Ruge; eighth, John M. McCullough; ninth, H. J. McCall; tenth, Nelson T. Spradley; eleventh, J. P. Wall; twelfth, A. I. Branham.

City-at-Large Members.

From the city at large, William Cander, Frank Newby, Mrs. R. K. Rambo, C. W. Cunningham and Abe Greenfield.

"I intend to place the facts before the voters of the city in order that they may make a decision befitting the great leader of southern cities," Mayor Sims said.

In selecting the bond commission, I have forgotten political lines and have named men and women who will instill confidence in the bond issue. I believe that this committee is the most impartial and judicious manner. I would be willing for it to administer my estate and feel assured that it would protect my personal interests.

Teachers Indorse Plan.

More than 800 teachers of elementary grades of the Atlanta school system Thursday afternoon gave their unanimous indorsement to all items of the bond plan at a meeting held at Commercial High school. Other enthusiastic indorsements during the day came from the Atlanta Hotel Men's association and from individual members of the City club.

William A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools and Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, chairman of the bond committee appointed by Mayor Sims to secure passage of the issue, spoke at the teachers' meeting.

"Every child in the Atlanta school system will benefit by passage of the school bonds alone, besides other direct benefits which will be derived from other items in the list," Mr. Sutton declared. "This is possible because of the $300,000 fund to provide equipment for schools."

From other items in the list, Mr. Sutton declared, "This is possible because of the $300,000 fund to provide equipment for schools."

Following Mr. Sutton's address, a vote showed that all those present would work for passage of the issue. Several of the teachers declared that the plan is the best that could have been evolved without increasing taxes or tax assessments.

The hotel men gave unqualified indorsement to the entire project for "a bigger and greater Atlanta and to assure her future place as a leader of southern cities."

The session was held at the Ansley hotel with W. C. Rorer, vice president and associate manager of the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel and president of the association, presiding.

Fred Houser, executive secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau, made a report of the National Educational association held recently in Washington, D. C. It also was announced that Mr. Sutton is cooperating with city leaders in an effort to secure the meeting of the educational body for next year.

Reservations for opera, which are all ready pouring in, it was reported, but additional hotel facilities will prevent congestion which has been experienced before.

NEW COAST LINE ROAD AUTHORIZED IN WEST FLORIDA

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—The Interstate commerce commission today authorized the Atlantic Coast Line railroad to construct a new line approximately 21 miles long in Florida, between Jacksonville and Tallahassee. The railroad will extend from a connection with one of the Coast Line branches at, or near, Thomastown, in a northerly direction to a point near Dade City.

"Peach and Emanuel counties are soon to vote on $700,000 additional. In January, 1926, other counties agreed to furnish for state road work to be similarly matched an additional sum of $1,224,500, as appears from the memoranda attached, which, added to the $8,253,000 recently voted in bonds, totals $10,097,500 to be matched."

"I have checked the statement that these sums have been provided by the counties on the representation that they were to be matched in the proportion of 25-25-50 per cent. All the information I have been able to obtain is to that effect. As evidence thereof I append news items of two counties voting bonds yesterday (March 10), showing that even while this discussion is pending the people were discussing to bond themselves on representation that their fund would be so matched."

LABOR LEADER SUPPORTS CITY BOND ISSUE PROGRAM

Influence of the laboring and trade element of Atlanta Thursday was enlisted further in support of the proposed $8,000,000 bond issue for city improvements, when Charlie Grambling, prominent labor leader for the past several years and now president of the Atlanta Engineers' local No. 329, issued a statement in which he declared he would support all items listed in the plan and would assist in securing ratification of the entire bond program.

"This is one of the greatest things Atlanta has attempted, and anything that affects Atlanta as vitally as the passage of this issue does, has a tremendous influence on labor conditions," Mr. Grambling said. "I am wholeheartedly in favor of every item included in the list and shall do my best to assure ratification of all of them. This bond issue is not a one man's job. Every citizen, both of Atlanta and Georgia, is concerned, for the economic condition of Atlanta is reflected throughout the state and all classes and all credits will benefit by the great improvements which the fund will provide."

"Workers will be furnished employment, children will be given decent school conditions, citizens will be given better health conditions with sewerage improvements, traffic congestion will be relieved by the viaducts, and Atlantans will have a modern and convenient administration building if all the items carry. In fact, Atlanta will be made a better, bigger, greater city with the passage of bonds."

"I commend the proposal to all progressive and loyal Atlantans, and appeal to all citizens to register and vote for bonds March 24."

LONE BANDIT RETURNED TO JAIL

of the truck, so I reached around the cab and grappled with Newsome, who had the shotgun on the front seat. He tried to escape, but I held him. Newsome fired as I ducked my head, the muzzle of the gun being between my thumb and forefinger. At that time he exhibited the powder burn on his right hand.

Responsible for Burglary.

Travis assumed entire responsibility for the burglary of the store at Waleksky.

"The others had nothing to do with it," he declared. "One was seated in the sedan and the other was on the sidewalk somewhere about the town."

"Travis said he took three suits of overalls, a state and federal hat, and didn't bother about getting so much ammunition, as I knew I would not have any need for such things," he continued.

"I wanted to do it all right away, but I had to wait until I could get all over again—doing anything that is honest to make a living, and to show my wife that there is lots of food in the heart of the poor man."

State Must Help Them.

"These are the very counties which need help and which should be helped by the state. Indeed, unless material aid is given them, they will never have a good road and general help."

"I insist that one-third of the counties cannot help themselves because of the 7 per cent constitutional limitation. If they could not help themselves they will need every dollar they can raise to build the 93 per cent of other roads and to erect and maintain navigational schools in the country district."

Drove Truck Away.

In his story of the escape, Travis said that he was the only one who did not leave the truck.

"I drove the truck away, not knowing exactly who was on it until we had traveled a considerable distance," he said.

Travis arrived in a large touring car in custody of Lieutenant J. M. Carroll, of the county force, and in the company of Captain Carroll and Claude Mills, of the river convict camp. They took charge of the prisoner at Woodstock.

Travis had spent two nights and days in the woods without sleep. His only shelter from the downpour of rain Wednesday night were the barren limbs of trees, he said.

He related several instances where his pursuers were right at his heels: how he waded his feet in creek water and back track to throw the dogs off his trail.

Rode on Wagon.

"Some time about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning I was walking on the road toward Woodstock and a man driving a wagon gave me a lift. I knew by the way he looked at me that he was suspicious, so I refused to go to the town, getting out and going to the woods."

"At one time I heard the sound of a motor car behind me. I turned as though I was going into a house beside the road and the suspicion of the car disappeared. I was not, however, as they passed by. This car had a Fulton county tag on it and was occupied by officers," Travis said.

This was Travis' last sighting of his wife. He said he had heard her from her occasionally, he says, and longs to win his freedom so he can go straight and live for her.

"I wished to escape, and know that I love her and at times I can hardly stand the idea of such a long separation from her," he said with tears in his eyes.

Using this as a man with such a long sentence has no opportunity of being free—even if he behaves himself in a most exemplary manner. My only chance to be out and be with my wife is to escape."

Working Man's Reason.

From a working man the following letter arrived, written on a "work schedule" sheet:

I wish to cast my vote in favor of the bond issue, for it is a good old U. S. A. Like myself most of the young men of America were in France fighting for our free country when those boys studying in Washington put the prohibition law on America. Every man honestly knows this law is a failure. Making rich criminals and wealthy supposed law enforcers is the only benefit of this law.

"Do not use whiskey which can buy from one drink to 50 gallons of the pop-skill and poison brand right here in Atlanta, however, it is very near. This is the verdict of 90 per cent of the working men."

A business man of Atlanta, writing on his firm's stationery, said in a letter with his ballot in which he voted in favor of modification.

"My reasons are to save girls from being tempted," he wrote.

The chief of police of Georgia town sent in 31 ballots. Thirty of the ballots were cast against any modification and one vote for modification.

"Give us stricter laws and more enforcement and less politics and babbled," is the demand of an Atlanta lawyer casting his ballot against any modification of the law.

Another Atlanta man who states that he is not an "anti-prohibitionist," and that the present law could be enforced to the letter.

"We must look the facts in the face, however, and admit that if the Volstead law were possible of even approximate enforcement, it is not being enforced and what efforts are being made to that end do anything else but inspire respect for the law."

VANDYKE GUILTY OF MURDER CHARGE

Gastonia, N. C., March 11.—(AP)—Jesse Van Dyke was found guilty of murder in the second degree tonight in connection with the death of Chief of Police A. L. Painter, of Cherryville, N. C., who was fatally shot by the defendant on January 14. Judge Lyon announced he would pronounce sentence tomorrow morning. The defense sprang a surprise today when it rested its case without the introduction of a single witness. The state's evidence showed that Painter was mortally wounded by Van Dyke when the latter ran amuck and shot a number of shots promiscuously on the streets of the small town. Defense counsel admitted that Van Dyke was drunk, but argued that the element of malice was therefore lacking.

PROBATION CAMPAIGN WILL BE REJECTED

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—An adverse report on President Coolidge's nomination of Wallace McCamant, of Oregon, as a judge of the ninth circuit court, was made certain today.

No official poll, with 11 of the 16 members voting, stood 8 to 3, with at least two others certain to vote for rejection.

Those recorded against the nomination are Chairman Cummings and Senator Borah, Republicans; Senators Walsh, Reed, of Missouri; Overman, Ashurst and Caraway, Democrats. Those favoring McCamant were Senators Deneen, Goff and Ernst, all Republicans.

Woman Gave Poison to 3, Police Claim

Flora, Ill., March 11.—(AP)—State's Attorney Harold S. Williams told the Associated Press tonight that Mrs. Elsie Bible Malinsky, under life sentence for the poison murder of the former wife of her husband, has made a further confession substantially admitting having committed two other poison murders and attempting a fourth one.

Confronted with circumstantial evidence county authorities had obtained since her first confession to the poison murder of Mrs. Laura May Malinsky last fall, the woman broke down, the state's attorney said, and made a complete confession, but substantially admitted that about 15 years ago she poisoned and killed the wife of her husband, and that she might marry him, and that about three years ago she fatally poisoned Bible when she became dissatisfied with him as a husband.

The woman is 44 years old and has had three husbands. Her first husband, Wilbur Cox, divorced her about 18 years ago after it was alleged she had been an unsuccessful attempt to poison him. Williams said.

Debate on State School Bond Bill Opened by House

Debate on the proposed constitutional amendment which would authorize issuance of $22,000,000 in bonds for educational purposes, an outstanding item before the general assembly in extra session, began Thursday.

The house heard two members, Representatives Zellers, of Hart, and Hatcher, of Burke, advocate the issuance before that body adjourned until next Monday. Anti-bond members announced that they had no desire to debate Thursday.

The twenty-two million dollar proposal is a substitute drafted by a subcommittee of the constitutional amendments committee, of which Representative Fernald Barrett, of Stephens, is chairman. It incorporates an $18,000,000 proposal of Mr. Barrett, and a proposed issue of $4,000,000 for prompt payment of school teachers, sponsored by Fort E. Land, state school superintendent.

As when they were discussed and authorized by the University of Georgia, the issue of bonds not exceeding $7,000,000 for aiding and equipping consolidated schools; not exceeding $11,000,000 for building and equipping for the University of Georgia and its branches; and not exceeding $4,000,000 for prompt payment of school teachers.

Salaries Year Behind.

In debate on the bill, Representative Zellers quoted Superintendent Barrett as stating in a statement that, since organization of the common school system, teachers have been paid a year late. The system was organized and put in operation in the summer of 1924. The state has not forthcoming until taxes were collected the following year.

Consequently, Mr. Zellers said, teachers had to be paid by warrant, and when they were discussed and authorized by the University of Georgia, the issue of bonds not exceeding $7,000,000 for aiding and equipping consolidated schools; not exceeding $11,000,000 for building and equipping for the University of Georgia and its branches; and not exceeding $4,000,000 for prompt payment of school teachers.

"We should not deny to the people the right to vote on these measures," he declared. "The people are asked to pass them but merely to permit them to express their desires."

Representative Hatcher, who followed Zellers with a similar appeal, was interrupted several times by Representatives Milner, of Dodge, and Lanier, of Columbia.

"Does the gentleman know that approximately $10,000,000 of these bonds have been given to the federal constitution since its adoption, with fewer than 20 submitted to the people for ratification?" asked Mr. Lanier.

"I do not think the citation is analogous," Mr. Hatcher replied.

Mr. Milner wished to know if an enabling act would be submitted with the proposed constitution. He said that the bonds should be retired, Representative Hatcher declared that issuance and retirement was left for the next general assembly to determine.

"We are asked merely to let the people say whether they want bonds," he declared. "If they do, the next assembly will issue them and provide for their retirement."

A final draft of a highway bond resolution was completed today by the highway subcommittee of the amendments committee and it will be submitted to the house for consideration Monday. The resolution states that:

"The state may incur a bonded indebtedness not to exceed $70,000,000, the proceeds of which shall be expended in hard-surfacing a connected system of highways which, when completed, shall include every county seat in the state, and in reimbursing counties or districts for state road work."

As part of the debate on the education bill, little business was transacted in the house. A local bill authorizing Brooks county to provide for paving was passed and two local bills were introduced.

The state board of education gave second reading to several minor bills and adjourned after a brief session.

Resolutions were introduced in the house asking the reconsideration of the decision to adjourn until next Monday but the resolution was effectively nullified when it was voted to offer it to the committee on resolutions.

The next report tomorrow and tomorrow the assembly will be adjourned.

Representative Culpepper, of Fayette, author of the Confederate pension bill which was introduced in the house and that it will not be necessary to repeal the act in order to provide a fund sufficient to pay pensions.

He declared that his bill was based on information received from the state department, and that it was found that the Western and Atlantic railroad notes would have to be discounted for an additional one or two million dollars.

The bill would require that the notes could be passed in house and senate making the necessary change, and not prolonging the extra session.

Representative Howard, of Chatham, asking the reconsideration of the decision to adjourn until next Monday but the resolution was effectively nullified when it was voted to offer it to the committee on resolutions.

No committee meetings are scheduled for the week-end. Legislative bills will be quiet until Monday, when debate on the education bill will be resumed.

A gale tore the roof off a back porch of a house in Hockanum, Conn., lifted it to the house roof, used it to round the chimney, and it seemed inadvisable to go forward with the program today, with the certainty that it will be damp and unpleasant underfoot, and with the probability of actual rain.

"Everything will simply be held up for one day, and we want all Georgians, who had planned to attend the festival, to come here on Friday. They will be given a royal welcome and everything possible will be done for their convenience and comfort."

R. S. Barker, executive vice president of the Peach Blossom festival, said that he was one of a number of well-known Atlantans aboard Alderman Williams' special train, and soon after his arrival here, he issued a statement urging all Atlantans, as well as citizens from other parts of the state, to attend the festival on Friday.

Fort Valley, said Mr. Barker, "too late to get away from here. She has despite the obstacles provided by the weather, decided to go forward valiantly with plans for the festival, and Friday to pull one of the momentous days in the history of Georgia, and it is my sincere wish that the citizens of Atlanta will give their wholehearted support to the festival and will attend en masse."

Customers Liable In Liquor Deals, High Court Told

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Customs are liable to prosecution with bootleggers, the government argued in the supreme court today, if the latter fail to keep records of their sales available to the government for inspection.

The government's contention was overthrown in the lower courts, but lawyers who listened to questions from the bench today got the impression that the Atlanta case will take a different view of the issue.

The controversy arose in Philadelphia when the government sought to prosecute Jacob Katz, George Senn and others, who were charged with bootlegging. Katz had sold liquor to the other men without keeping a record of the sales, including their names and addresses.

The present committee, appointed by Governor Dorsey and reappointed by Governor Walker, is composed of Dr. Quillian, Horace Hovels of Athens; Mrs. Frank Harold, of Americus; A. L. Hewson, of Calhoun; and Mrs. J. M. High, of Atlanta.

Another action taken at the Thursday meeting was the appointment of Mrs. N. Bateman by Mrs. Perdue as a committee to communicate with Will H. Harris, head of the motion picture industry, with a view to suppressing picturization of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Peach Fete Today At Fort Valley To Break Record

BY DAVE MUNDAY

Fort Valley, Ga., March 11.—King Winter with his icy blasts sent cold weather today and deferred the coronation of King Peach until Friday, disappointing more than 10,000 persons who swarmed here to witness the initial presentation of "The Prodigal Peach," the spectacular pageant and dramatic event of the fifth annual festival.

Georgia's blossom time was interrupted by the sudden change in temperature and overcasts and wraps were popular. Bursting buds appeared out of place, but the festive crowd from dozens of states and virtually every section of Georgia awaits tomorrow as weather reports indicate the day will

AN UNTENABLE POSITION.

From the statements made by the three members of the state highway commission, brought out through questions of committee at the legislative hearing Wednesday, there appears to be wide differences of opinion as to how to proceed, upon what basis highway progress can be made, and as to the advisability of bonds, increase in gasoline tax, etc., between the members themselves, and between the members as a group and the state highway engineer, who is the one, and only practical road builder in the administrative branch.

Chairman Holder announced he was "opposed to bonds of any kind." In one answer, and yet insisted in every statement made that "the counties should contribute to every highway built within their borders"—which can only be done through county bond issues based on ad valorem taxation, as the one cent a gallon gasoline tax allocated to such counties was intended, and so stressed at the time of the passage of the law "for laterals to touch and feed the state highways."

Pressed for answers as to the differentiation of anticipated funds, the chairman admitted he figured on approximately $2,000,000 annually from the government in federal aid, and $2,000,000 annually from the counties (through local bonds) in county aid. He could not figure more than $3,500,000 construction fund from the gasoline tax of 4 cents, now imposed, and admitted that the motor vehicle fund was largely used for maintenance at costs far in excess of what would be necessary if the highways were paved. He did not believe a county should be helped "that did not help itself," to use his own words—and thereby intermediately favored loading Georgia down with local bonds—carried against direct property taxation—more staggering, perhaps, than any state in America of relative population and taxable wealth. With it all his admissions illustrated beyond controversy the impossibility of ever coordinating a paved highway system—regardless of the size of the income.

Commissioner Phillips was equally frank in his contention that no county should have paying on its state roads that did not furnish a quota of help—thus leaving sixty or more counties forever without paved roads, and the plan a crazy-quilt of the visual disjunctiveness of a cross-word puzzle. He frankly took issue with the chairman as to the wisdom of state bonds if necessary to provide an actual building program of around $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 a year.

Commissioner Bennett also contended that the counties, whether rich or poor, able or not able, should contribute their pro rata, and that if the counties could not so provide, that the paying should be skipped over such counties. He frankly admitted it would take "15 or 20 years" to pave the state highways under the present plan.

Mr. Neel, the engineer, with equal frankness, favored a change in the system to conform to federal requirements and to make it possible to connect the system of highways, as provided in the existing law. He said it would be easy to materially increase the building program without disturbing labor conditions, and without increasing the administrative expenses of the department.

There was no direct answers to any of the various questions regarding the allocation of funds to 26 counties that have voted bonds on the protestations of the board that the state and government would match all such funds three to one. All were evasive.

The contention of each of the highway board members agreed that the counties should do the bonding and that another one cent a gallon should be added to the gasoline tax. Upon that there was no division. Another one cent a gallon—amounting to an additional tax upon motorists of $1,500,000 approximately a year—to be dissipated as now upon the construction of patches here and there, without coordination, without cohesion, without a system, without anything but a blind pretense at doing something that seven years of effort has shown cannot be done.

Sifted down to its logical conclusion, the burden of the highway department's official agreement is to load upon the people of Georgia a stupendous burden of county bonds, to be carried by direct taxation, and upon the gasoline consumers a further burden of taxation, and to keep the state forever in the mud in at least 60 of the 161 counties.

God forbid!

MORE RUFFIANISM.

It is a sickening, disgraceful story that comes out of Franklin county. One man is dead and two others are fatally wounded, it is alleged, as a result of a raid of hooded night riders who precipitated capital tragedy in the lawless effort to "regulate" some condition that the law stood ready to repair, if a violation of law had been committed.

Georgia has suffered for too much from this sort of thing, and it was hoped that such hoodlumism was a thing of the past. Franklin is one of the best counties in northeast Georgia. There are thousands of fine citizens as there are in America in Franklin. The blow that has come to it, through the news of the activity of this lawless band of robed gangsters, cannot soon be repaired. Land settlers do not want to seek homes in the atmosphere of such terrorism. They do not want to send their children to schools located in the centers of such a spirit of law defiance in the veiled and masked attempt at doing vigilante service.

Such "service" blazes fresh paths of tragedy without reaching the root of any existing or fancied evil. Another headliner for the newspapers of the east and west—and at a time when we are inviting good people from everywhere to move among us, enjoy our climate, work our lands, and become builders in a state of opportunity.

Every person guilty of this serious infraction of law and decency should be made to pay.

THE EMORY CAMPAIGN.

Nearly $350,000 of Atlanta's quota of $750,000 to be raised as a part of Emory university's $10,000,000 expansion program has already been subscribed, and the local campaign has just begun.

The enthusiasm of the workers is unbounded, and no undertaking in this city's incomparable record for doing big things in a big way was ever launched under more auspicious circumstances or with a firmer and finer spirit to win.

Heading the list of contributions thus far is the magnificent donations of $50,000 by Thomas K. Glenn, president of the Atlanta-Lowry National Bank, and of $75,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Candler, the latter being a sister of the late Rev. W. F. Glenn, for whom the Glenn Memorial is to be named as a fitting tribute to the memory of a great man who, for many years, was pastor of the First Methodist church in Atlanta, and for a generation was one of the outstanding figures in southern Methodism.

In the Emory expansion program provision is made for a chapel and auditorium, in keeping with the extensiveness of the enlarged institution. This "W. F. Glenn Memorial" will be dedicated to that service.

No better man ever lived in Georgia than the venerable leader whose memory is to be thus honored, and the contributions of his son and daughter are beautiful and touching tributes from children whom God has blessed with the means and the heart and the will to memorialize in such a fitting way the lives of their father.

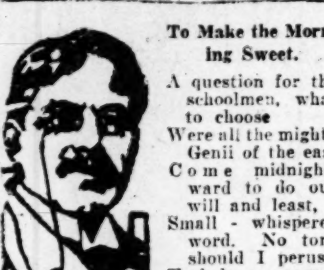

Emory's titanic undertaking is not a dream. It is a tremendous, praiseworthy, forward-looking movement already in motion and carrying with it every assurance of ultimate success to the last dollar needed.

Eleven years ago Emory university, rising upon the long and stainless record of old Emory college, was nothing more than a zealous determination. Today, as some one has very forcefully put it, "a beautiful campus, in the sunlight of Atlanta's sky line, with 14 magnificent buildings and unsurpassed equipment, bear testimony to the truth of Methodism's contention that Christians going from their knees to any task can do it."

But Methodists are not alone interested in Emory. All citizens of every denomination, and without denomination, are keenly interested in the success of this campaign. Every Georgian, every southerner, is interested, for its completion will mean the erection, and the financial safeguarding, of one of the largest and most modern university plants in the world. The asset value of such a plant to this great section of America is without estimate.

"Men build cities." That is true. But the first investment that offers the greatest dividends is in the training of men that they may be mentally and morally capacitated to build.

The Reason of It.

The Albany Herald throws light on an airplane inquiry as follows—
"An authority on words states that an airplane should always be referred to as 'she.' Does this apply also to 'planes?' asks the Southern Lumberman. We imagine it refers to all that are difficult to control, that the pilot, and that need to be painted before every trip."

And yet my nerves with icy tremors
rack me,
My limbs are taut for flight.

What is it that I dread? Why am

New York, March 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was steadier today. After selling off early to 18.52, May contract rallied to 18.65 on covering and a little trade buying, and closed at 18.65. The general market steady, net 1 point lower to 6 points higher. The opening was steady at unchanged prices to lower Liverpool cables, continued complaints of poor spot demand and unfavorable reports from the cotton goods market. July sold off to 17.95 and October to 17.24 at the start, but while bearish sentiment was much in evidence offerings were comparatively small, and were absorbed by price fixing in the near months and covering by recent sellers who seemed inclined to secure profits. There also may have been a little buying of new crop months on reports of cold rains in the south.

Prices steadied and the market was comparatively quiet later in the day. July selling up to 18.10 and October to 17.55, net advances of about 11 to 15 points on the general list. The close was within a few points of the best on most positions.

The late steadiness was promoted by reports of a better tone in the stock market and Wall Street buying, although the latter was attributed chiefly to covering by shorts.

Reports from the cotton goods market said the marking down of prices for print cloths had failed to stimulate demand, and that some of the southern mills were curtailing production as stocks were accumulating.

Private cables attributed the relatively easy ruling of Liverpool to holding and liquidation, and said that cotton cloth buyers were holding off in Manchester in expectation of lower prices.

Exports today were 8,702 bales, making 6,163,540 so far this season. Port receipts, 15,219. U. S. stock, 1,311,728.

MARKET QUIET AT NEW ORLEANS.
New Orleans, March 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today and the market was steady for May, the most active month being 14 points. Following an opening decline on poor cables which was gradually extended to 8 to 14 points in the early trading owing to prospects of a return of fair weather in the belt, the market rallied on shorts covering and regained practically all of the early loss.

Prices eased off 6 to 10 points in the early afternoon owing to lack of sustained support but rallied again in the late trading particularly on the new crop positions and several of the months duplicated the earlier highs but did not cross them.

The close showed net losses for the day of 2 to 7 points on near positions but net gains of 4 to 9 points on more distant months.

At the start Liverpool cables were lower than due and as a result first trades were 4 to 7 points down. After a brief but trifling rally prices again eased off on the forecast for fair weather in the belt until March traded down to 18.21, May to 17.83, and July to 17.54, or 8 to 14 points below the close of yesterday.

This proved to be the low of the day. Near noon prices rallied on shorts covering due to fears that crop preparations in the belt might be delayed by recent rains. The demand revealed a scarcity of contracts. On this bulge May advanced to 17.97, July to 17.45 and October to 16.94, or 11 to 14 points up from the lows. These prices proved to be the highs of the day.

After closing off 6 to 10 points from the highs in the early afternoon the market firmed up in the late trading and the later positions duplicated the earlier highs and closed 11 to 15 points up from the lows. Near noon prices showed small net losses.

Exports for the day totaled 8,702 bales.

AMUSEMENTS

Atlanta Theater.

Once in a while there happens in a person's life something that makes such a deep impression upon him that he finds it impossible to describe it. Emotions are aroused in him that he finds difficult to express in words. So one feels after viewing "The Big Parade" that the greatest of all screen achievements that has been testing the capacity of the Atlanta theater for nearly two weeks now, and which will continue for two more days, showing today and tomorrow at 2:30 and 8:30 o'clock. The beautiful love story interwoven with the grim and stirring action of the "Big Parade" is a picture that grips the heart and holds the eye.

Howard Theater.

New York city has been pictured in song, story and fable. O. Henry, one of fiction's most lovable characters, always spoke of it as his "Bagdad of the Subways."

"Dancing Mothers," the Paramount picture, playing at the Howard this week, shows the great side of a great city. It is a tale of the bright lights, and the persons who help to create them.

The overture for the week by the Howard orchestra is "Ziegfeld Melody," J. P. Mathieson conducting. Other features include a Lloyd Hamilton comedy and International News.

Tudor Theater.

Swinging up the western trail, astride his brilliant charger Silver King, comes Fred Thompson, pride of the American boy and girl, in his hell-for-leather western thrill and laugh feature "The Tough Guy," in which he comes again to the screen of the Tudor theater under the auspices of F. B. D.

Loew's Grand.

"The Great Lion," with his famous "Don't Shoot Me," is the headline attraction on the vaudeville program of Loew's Grand theater this week. The lion is used to shoot a shell containing a living woman through a sheet of armor plate steel. The feat is performed in full view of the audience, and other popular acts on the bill are Harry Pease and Ed Nelson, noted song writers, in a musical skit "Sing-Duck"; Tony Martin, in a comedy "Run Down," a comedy sketch, and Frank Whitman, "fiddler of infinite surprises." The Loew feature picture "Time the Comedian," with Lew Cody and Mae Marsh.

The Metropolitan.

Eleanor Boardman and Conrad Nagel, whose appearance together in several pictures within the last year has established them as one of the most popular teams in John M. Stahl's production of "Memory Lane" play.

LIQUOR BANITS HOLD UP TRAIN

Peoria, Ill., March 11.—(AP)—A Minneapolis and St. Louis freight train was held up here early today. The robbers cut the train, allowing some cars believed to contain alcohol to roll back down a hill, and forcing the engineer to proceed with the remainder of the train.

In a similar holdup on the Rock Island road near here several weeks ago robbers obtained a large quantity of liquor.

The train of 40 cars was cut by the robbers at Eden, 22 cars remaining with the engine. Near Trioli the train stopped and a load seemed lighter. A brakeman, investigating, was met by armed men who announced that they were seeking cigarettes and liquor and that they had enough trucks to haul away two cars.

Holding the brakeman, the robbers searched the 22 cars, hauling away two. The train then proceeded after being coupled together.

AFFIDAVITS FILED IN REMUS DIVORCE

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 11.—(AP)—Depositions taken in behalf of Imogene Remus to refute allegations made by George Remus, called "bootleg king," in his answer and cross petition to her suit for divorce and also to support her allegations of cruelty, were filed in domestic relations court here today by counsel for Mrs. Remus.

The depositions of Edward J. Staves, that Franklin L. Dodge, former secret service agent while in Atlanta had shown him two tickets and told him that he and Mrs. Remus were going to use them to go to Cleveland, and that Mrs. Remus had been charged during the federal investigation of the affairs of the Atlanta penitentiary and showed him with him at an Atlanta hotel.

Another deposition by Miss Charlotte Colman, Detroit, answering one filed for Remus in which two employees of a hotel at Cleveland averred that Dodge, who is named in Remus' cross petition to the divorce suit was in the room in the hotel with a woman registered as Charlotte Colman and she was ordered out of the house. A picture of Mrs. Remus was alleged to have been identified by the witnesses as Miss Colman.

Miss Colman says she was at the hotel on the date mentioned, and that Dodge and another man were at her room and the door was open. She said she saw Dodge and another man at the hotel and that she saw Dodge and another man at the hotel and that she saw Dodge and another man at the hotel.

Chicago Active In Suppressing Crime, Is Claim

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Lawlessness in Chicago, which the senate recently was asked to investigate, got some additional publicity today through the department of justice.

A report from the United States marshal in that city, made public by the department, recounted these activities during the last 15 months: Thirty carloads of criminals sent to Leavenworth.

Two hundred "illegal purveyors of poison" convicted.

The marshal said padlock orders for prohibition violations were being issued at the rate of 20 a week.

81 Theatre.

Miller and Lyles' big hit "Runnin' Wild," a colored musical comedy show that played in New York for two years, is coming to put the fringe in the midnight frolic at the 81 theater tonight at 10:45. The cast of the show includes the world's champion Charleston tap dancer, Al Blake, and Aurora Greely and her eight dancing Charlestoners. Incidentally, this is the show that originated the Charleston and the theatergoers will have the opportunity of seeing the Charleston as it is danced by the originators.

As to the comedy side of the show, it is unexcelled. Gallie de Gaston and A. W. Jackson are comedy pairs that are real big-time performers. May Barnes and John Henderson are in the leading singing roles. The chorus is large and efficient and not disappointing in appearance. The tickets are selling at Chas. Place at Five Points, and at the theater.

Rialto Theater.

America's pride of the oceans, the giant liner Leviathan, was used for several scenes in "Headlines," the drama of newspaper life at the Rialto theater this week. The climax of the production takes place in a state-room aboard Captain Hartley's ship, while there are interesting shots of her decks and the swimming pool. The Leviathan is said to be the biggest floating "set" ever used in pictures, and the production is always to be found on the Rialto program.

STRIKE THREATENS MIAMI BUILDING

Miami, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—General strike of union electrical workers in Miami with a consequent tie-up of building activity on April 1 loomed here today as the result of disagreement on a wage scale contract by electricians and contractors.

The union declared that yesterday demanded an increase in wages of journeymen from $1.62 1/2 to $1.75 per hour, but contractors maintain that $1.50 per hour is fair and adequate amount now.

Howard P. Foley, representing the Miami Electrical Contractors' association, said that the union's demand was not reasonable and that the contractors would not agree to it.

Atlanta, We Thank You!

This is the Bond Bros.
Store that Made everybody wonder

If you haven't been here—by all means,
come today!

Yesterday---when we opened this great Bond Bros. Atlanta Store—the response was really remarkable—you certainly surprised us! We naturally expected a regular business—but we didn't expect a clamoring crowd. We were confident—that after we were established a while, Atlanta's sensible saving men and young men would adopt Bond Bros.' tailored clothes—but we had no anticipation of such immediate action.

Despite our expensive preparations—doing everything humanly possible—to give every visitor all the personal attention and service typical of Bond Bros. Stores—still we feel there were a few who were unavoidably slighted. We apologize!

Atlanta—you certainly received us with enthusiasm. We are a part of you—a real Southern institution doing business with sensible southerners. We will always honor and keep faith. We Thank You!

Bond Bros. Clothes

From Factory Direct to You

Easter is just 'round
the corner

There's no time to lose now—Easter—the time when every man generally dresses in the newest, will soon be with us. Isn't it a logical plan to buy now—rather than making a rush job of it—the last minute? Why not come to Bond Brothers and get the pick of the season now?

We
for Cash
Only!

There's no question about it—a charge account may be convenient but it costs money to maintain a charge system. Here at Bond Bros. you always pay cash and in that way you never pay for the fellow who forgets to pay—of course the result is—you save by paying cash.

You
Save
$10
to $20

Here you will always see the new styles first—in many instances months ahead of Spring and Easter arrivals anywhere else in this city.

Compare Bond Bros. Clothes

—with any high-grade brand of clothing in America; compare garment for garment—model for model—tailoring for tailoring—and you will find, we believe, that clothes selling for $10 to $20 more than Bond Bros. price do not even approach the Bond Bros. high standard of tailoring construction. Make this comparison and you'll be a Bond Bros. Booster for life!

For the convenience of Atlanta men who have been waiting to buy their first Bond Bros. suit, our store will be open tonight and Saturday night until 9 o'clock.

Girl Scout Pageant Will Be Brilliant Event This Evening

With the final work of all committees successfully concluded and the dress rehearsal satisfactorily enacted, the dawn of the day for the presentation of "The Vision of Youth," the pageant to be given at the Auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock by the Atlanta Girl Scouts, is greeted with high hopes by the 300 or more girls who are to take part, and with keen interest on the part of hosts of others who for the past several weeks have watched the work of pageant-building by the scouts of the city. The pageant is based upon the changing ideals of the ages as expressed through the youth of every land. An effort has been made to portray the spirit of the times rather than to reproduce historical details.

First Episode.

The first episode is laid in the classic period in history. The vestal virgins of ancient Greece will be represented by a group of Potter-Spiker players of the Potter-Spiker school of fine arts. The girls participating in the demonstration of Greek games have been given training for the parts by Miss Isabel Randolph, of Agnes Scott college faculty.

The second episode will depict life in the middle ages. Outstanding features of this part of the pageant will be the representation of the children's crusade, in which Miss Ruth Peck as "Stephen," Miss Helen Forsyth as "Traveler," and Miss Elizabeth Skeen and Miss Lundy Sharpe as shepherd boys will carry the leading roles. Part II, of the same episode will portray events in the life of Joan of Arc. Miss Margaret Bates will take the part of the Maid of Orleans. An interesting fact in connection with this phase of the pageant is that the lines, explanatory of the action, which will be read by Miss Sarah Fulton, are taken in part from the description in Mark Twain's classic history of Joan of Arc.

The third episode of the dramatization will be perhaps the most important. It will demonstrate the ideal of citizenship based upon personal character and cheerful service.

Central Figure.

Miss Margaret Campbell as Modern Civilization, is the central figure in the concluding action of the entertainment and as the scouts bring to her their valuable contributions of high ideals, honor, loyalty, usefulness.

friendliness, courtesy, kindness, obedience, cheerfulness, thrift and purity, which are the principles of character and citizenship upon which scouting is founded a brilliant tableau effect is built up on the stage as the climax and conclusion of the pageant.

Practically all box seats have been sold, according to a statement by Mrs. Frank Holland, Girl Scout commissioner, who is in charge of arrangements. A large number of other seats have been taken but there are still plenty of good seats available and anyone wishing to attend the pageant may secure tickets at Girl Scout headquarters today, No. 614 chamber of commerce, or at the box office at the auditorium tonight. Admission prices are: Box seats, $1; reserved seats in first 12 rows of the pit, 75c; other seats in dress circle and arena, 50c; balcony, 25c; children, 15c.

Fidelis Class Will Clothe Orphan Child.

At the regular monthly business meeting of the Fidelis class of the Peachtree Christian church, held Sunday afternoon in the Spanish room at the Henry Grady hotel, the members voted to clothe an orphan child at the Southern Christian home. The child is to be selected later by a committee composed of Mrs. T. B. Hutchison, chairman; Mrs. Andrew Altenbach and Mrs. Fulton Jackson.

The class also outlined among other things it expected to do in the future a program of support in the missionary field. It will get in touch with the missionary activity at work in India and will tender its help in any way it can be used in the field in this foreign country.

Two leaders, W. E. Anderson and H. L. Cannon, were selected to put on a contest to increase the membership of the class. Recently the class has been showing a big increase in attendance and much interest has been shown by its members, but it felt that a number of new members could be added by putting on a good working contest for new members. T. B. Hutchison is teacher of the class and Mrs. McDonald is president.

After the business session was over Mr. and Mrs. Altenbach, acting as hosts, at luncheon.

Kid Dance Honors Decatur Sorority.

The E. T. A. sorority of Decatur High school entertained at a kid dance at the home of the president, Miss Dorothy Allen, Monday evening from 9 until 12 o'clock. Those invited were Misses Kilsie Melton, Margaret Cunningham, Helen Wilson, Martha Murdoch, Mickie Wing, Doris Houston, Virginia Cooper, Ilaue Fincher, Elizabeth Jones and Christine Glauser.

E. Branch, Joe Poole, Louise Pittman, Mack Yarbrough, Zoo Smith, Elbridge Cann, Jack Dumas, Hugo Johnston, Tommie Whitfield, Jack Figg, Taylor Buchanan, Fred Cook, Graham George, Dick Millegre, Marion Tally, Hendry Cavan, Robert Alston, Gordon Williams, Tot Ehle, Harrison Griffin, Carlton Turner, Joe Ormer, Henry Morris, Joe Barnes, Paul Chapman, Joe Belenger and others.

A. A. Bible Class To Meet Sunday.

There will be a regular meeting of the A. A. Bible class of the Abavath Achim synagogue, corner Washington street and Woodward avenue, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. A lecture will be given by Mr. Winter, continuing on his series of lectures on Zionism.

Silver Cloud Council To Hold Meeting.

Silver Cloud Council, No. 1 and Ponemah Council, No. 28, ladies' auxiliary of the Improved Order of Red Men, will hold a joint meeting, Saturday, March 13, at Red Men's Wigwam. Three hundred visiting members from eight north Georgia councils will be in attendance. The degree will be conferred on a large class by the degree team of Etowah Council, No. 15 of Lindale.

A beautiful banner, given to the school of instruction of the degree of Pochontas of Georgia by M. E. Jackson for competitive degree work will be presented to the degree team of Etowah council by Past Great Sachem F. E. Smith. A special feature of the meeting will be several selections by the Lindale girl quartet. Refreshments will be served at 6:30 p. m. and the degree will be conferred at 7:30 p. m. Members of both councils in the city are urged to attend.

Mrs. George L. Baltzell was hostess to a group of the army social center at an informal tea Thursday afternoon at her home at Fort McPherson, honoring her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Bradfield, of LaGrange.

A charming arrangement of lovely spring blossoms adorned the reception apartments of the home. Mrs. A. W. Rapp, of West Virginia, poured tea at a beautifully appointed table in the dining room.

Mrs. Baltzell received her guests wearing a becoming gown of French blue crepe. Mrs. Bradfield was attractively gowned in blue chiffon.

Proceeds of Concert To Pay Off Mortgage Of U. D. C. House

Growing state-wide interest in the efforts of the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., to pay off the mortgage on its chapter house here was reflected Thursday in announcement by Mrs. John A. Perdue that more chapters in other cities had appointed committees to stimulate attendance at the concert to be given for the chapter by Paul Ryman, noted young American tenor, at the city auditorium March 31.

The chapters at Hawkinsville, Fitzgerald and Flemington announced committees Thursday. Other cities previously organized were announced last week.

Miss Lillie Martin, president of the Hawkinsville chapter, announced that Mrs. T. H. Bridges, Mrs. W. C. McAllister, Mrs. J. F. Coney, Mrs. Ruel Anderson, Mrs. W. N. Parsons and Miss Emma Caldwell would be in charge there.

Miss Laura Fraser, of Flemington, announced appointment of Mrs. Mamie Brison, Mrs. F. H. McDowell and Miss Mary Fraser, under personal leadership of the president, for the work in Flemington.

Mrs. W. H. Lagsetter, president of the Ben Hill chapter at Fitzgerald, announced appointment of Mrs. J. G. Williams, Mrs. S. G. Pryor, Jr., Mrs. Chester Strickland, Mrs. L. L. Griner, Mrs. Jesse Grantham and Mrs. Harry Vinson, as the Fitzgerald committee.

Paul Ryman, the foremost southern concert tenor and a former national favorite in musical comedy and light opera, is to be the principal artist on the concert program. Proceeds from the concert will go to meet the mortgage on the chapter house, which is used as a meeting place and a museum of Confederate history by the chapter.

Doughnuts

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 4 tablespoons melted shortening
- 1 cup sweet milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 level teaspoons baking powder
- 4 cups CAPITOLA plain flour

Turn on to a well-floured board, knead lightly, roll one-half-inch thick, fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper and dust with confectioners' sugar.

* If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Thousands Say "Capitola Flour Is Wonderful for Doughnuts"

Why must they have holes, you ask as you taste them? Why has custom decided that we should all be robbed of that mouthful of fluffy deliciousness?

It's unfair, especially so when the tasty rings are made of Capitola Flour which, soft and feathery from multiple siftings through finest silk, gives to doughnuts the same airy lightness.

Try Capitola Flour for doughnuts—for anything—then like thousands of others, you'll use it henceforth.

Watch Your Breakfast

Start every day with food that "stands by" you

HOW you feel all morning depends largely on what you eat for breakfast. Thousands have unenergetic forenoons because of wrong breakfast eating.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Food that should start every breakfast in your home.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers.

"Mad March Party" Honors Master Moore.

Mrs. Charles Moore, of Brown's Mill road, honored her son, Charles Moore, Jr., on Saturday afternoon with a "Mad March Party" in celebration of his ninth birthday. The "Alice in Wonderland" idea was carried out in the games and decorations, the centerpiece on the dining table being made of a mound of ferns and daffodils to represent "The Rabbit Hole" and gay white rabbits danced about this. Assisting Mrs. Moore were her mother, Mrs. Butler, and her aunt, Mrs. Stuart. The guest list included Bessie Ross, Susie Ross, Jeanne Crowell, Lula Maud Cook, Gertrude Race, Margaret Walters, Ruth Walters, Elizabeth Erickson, Frances Stokes, Mary Jewel Landrum, Grady Landrum, Jack Simmons, Jr., Charles Waldrop, Bivin Mayo, Earl Mayo, Robert Cook, Harold Simpson, Lamar Head, Byron Head, Miss Maggie Day, Miss Mattie Moore, Miss Margaret Richards, Mrs. John Crowell, Mrs. J. C. Simmons and Mr. Stewart.

Luncheon Honors Visiting Ladies.

An elaborate luncheon was given Thursday at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel in honor of the visiting ladies, who accompanied their husbands to the meeting of the Georgia Ice association. Mrs. Willshire Riley and Mrs. John Yopp were chairwomen of the reception committee and acted as hostesses.

The long luncheon table held several large baskets of yellow jonquils and tulips. The place cards were hand-painted sprays of jonquils and little yellow baskets of nuts and bon bons were at each place.

Covers were placed for 27 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Butters, Jr., Are Honored at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Butters, Sr., of Ludington, Mich., who are spending the winter in Atlanta as the guests of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butters, Jr., were honored on Thursday evening at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Burt Norris at their home.

A basket of spring flowers formed the decorations for the table, and covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butters, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Phelan, Mrs. A. V. Gude, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Woodside, Carl W. Fort, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph A. McGarity and Mrs. W. T. Gentry.

Jesse Draper Elected Head of Nine O'Clocks.

Jesse Draper was elected president of the Nine O'Clocks at the annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club. Other officers elected were S. T. Cooper, secretary and treasurer; directors, Lynn Weaver, William H. Sibley and Richard Courts.

Mr. Draper succeeds Dr. E. G. Ballinger, who has proven a valuable and popular president of this well-known and exclusive social organization, and under whose direction a number of brilliant social functions were sponsored.

The Nine O'Clocks is one of the oldest organizations in the city and numbers among its membership both married and unmarried members of society. Their Thanksgiving Eve and New Year's Eve balls have been epochs in Atlanta's social history, these affairs being a custom of the Nine O'Clocks for many years.

Joint Hostesses To Entertain at McPherson.

Mrs. Edward H. DeSausure and Mrs. R. Dozier Lee will entertain at a bridge party on Thursday afternoon, March 18, at 2:30 o'clock at Mrs. DeSausure's quarters at Fort McPherson. Their guests will include a group of friends of the hostesses.

RABBI MARX GIVES SECOND LECTURE

In the second lecture of his series on the "Messages of the Prophets of Israel to the Twentieth Century," Rabbi David Marx will deal with "Hosea, Domestic and National Fidelity." The lecture will be given at the open forum at the Jewish temple, Pryor and Richardson streets on Sunday morning at 11:15 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Harsh To Be Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harsh, of Milwaukee, Wis., will arrive on Saturday to be the guests of their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Dissoyway, at their home on Rivers road.

Many delightful informal affairs are being planned in their honor. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harsh will be honor guests at the dinner dance at the Piedmont Driving club, when Mr. and Mrs. Dissoyway will be hosts at a small party.

Mrs. Dissoyway will entertain at luncheon at the Piedmont Driving club on Monday, as a compliment to Mrs. Harsh. Invited will be a group of Mrs. Dissoyway's friends.

Atlanta's World-Wide Tour Interrupted by War in China

Mrs. Mary Hines Gunsaulus, who is making a trip around the world, expected to have been in Peking, China, on Wednesday, according to her itinerary, but on account of the existing war conditions, which may cut Peking off entirely from the outside world, she was not allowed to continue her trip. Peking is near the center of the fighting area, and with all the railways in north China short of coal and the river Peiho mined by the Chinese, it is felt that action by the powers may soon be necessary, Sailed on Lagoon.

In all probability the S. S. Lagoon, on which Mrs. Gunsaulus is making the trip, was among the vessels warned not to enter the Tien-Tsin harbor through Taku bay, as the ships would be fired upon. Reports from Tien-Tsin state that a Norwegian vessel attempted to run the blockade and was shelled by the forts on shore. Mrs. Gunsaulus is a daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. K. Hines, prominent Atlantians, and a popular member of the Atlanta Junior League.

Singular Honor.

A singular honor was bestowed on Mrs. Gunsaulus when she was chosen from among the Georgia passengers on board the Lagoon to give a two-minute talk on "Boost-Your-State-Night," one of the special events, on board the ship, which was on February 9. The following is a copy of Mrs. Gunsaulus' speech, called "Georgia."

"When God made the world and called it good, He must have had His eyes focused on the spot that was to become Georgia, the Empire State of the south; and since the Georgia apple got the first prize of the world fair in 1915, it surely must have been a Georgia apple with which Eve tempted Adam. Eve must have known that Adam had a weakness for apples, else she surely would have offered him a Georgia peach or watermelon. Besides apples, peaches, watermelons we have pecans, tobacco, cotton; in fact anything that can be produced in any climate in the world can be grown in Georgia. Georgia is independent of all other states and countries—she could be self-supporting."

"In looking at the physical beauty of Georgia, in the beginning, the Almighty must have visualized the Georgian of the future and his handiwork. He must have foreseen the cotton gin, invention of a Georgian; must have pictured William Longstreet, inventor of the first steamboat which steamed its way on the Savannah river 17 years before Fulton's boat on the Hudson; must have smiled at the thought of the anaesthetic, discovery of Crawford Long, which put an end to much of the suffering of the world; must have foreseen the first steamboat to cross the Atlantic leaving from Savannah.

Then God, peering into the future, must have thought of Joel Chandler Harris, whose "Uncle Remus" stories have made all the world's hearts of Wesleyan Female college at Macon,

Ga. Tech Pi Kappa Phi's To Give Bowery Ball At Druid Hills April 26

BY BEVERLY BURGESS.

Each day brings new costume parties in the college crowd! Invitations with all of the hall-marks of the East Side are to be used soon announcing a Bowery ball to be given at the Druid Hills Golf club on April 26 by the Pi Kappa Phi of Georgia Tech.

"A typical rough neck affair is this dance to be," says Bill Gordy, prominent Pi Kap at Tech.

The girls adore these costume parties and—incidentally—so do the mothers.

"So easy on the one and only evening dress!" one popular society girl was heard to remark who has more different evening dresses than there are nights in the week.

Of all picturesque Bowery-ball costumes one recalls ever having seen, the one worn by Eloise Robinson Dickey a few years ago at a performance of the Junior league, was the prize one.

So girls, without taking the matter up with Mrs. Dickey, I respectfully cite you to her as an authority on the subject.

Playwrights in the Making.

Did you know that right here in our midst we have an organization which is turning out full-fledged playwrights right before our very eyes?

The Oglethorpe Players is the one to which I refer.

Not only do they produce plays but no play will they put on which has not been written by their own men!

And now to the front steps our young friend, Charles Willis, all be- covered in honors.

Soon one of his dramas—shall I say?—will be given by this young group of players.

"What Price Glory," "Sonny," "The Big Parade" or what not may yet suffer in comparison with these classics of our home talent.

We shall keep informed as to developments amongst the Oglethorpe Players.

Florida Visitor Back Home.

Have you seen Louise Arnold since her return from Florida?

The whole winter have we been deserted by this popular young belle.

Most bewitching and rested does she look. Over the weekend Louise was seen wearing some very charming dancing frocks.

On one occasion she was seen in the most adorable little black coat suit, the niftiest possible model and with it was a chic little spring bonnet, black slippers and hose.

Only one touch of color was there and that was to be found in a most attractive flaming red hand bag, with which she danced—ostensibly for its touch of brightness.

Florida has been kind to Louise.

More bewitching than ever does she look since her prolonged stay in the land of brightness and sunshine.

Another Atlanta Girl Home.

Martha Powell, another of Atlanta's prime favorites in the college crowd, has just returned to her home here after a whole winter away.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY The Battle of Bemis Heights by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

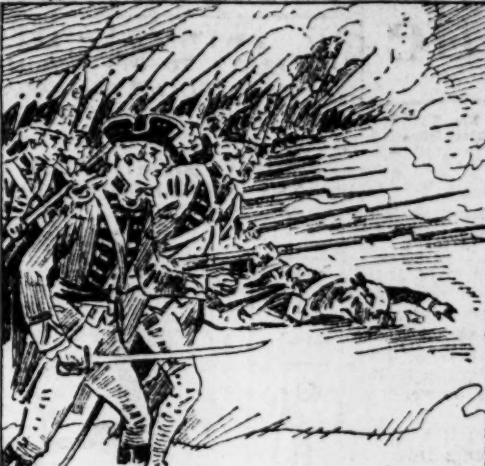

AT FORT EDWARD, BURGOME'S INDIANS BE- CAME DISGUSTED, BECAUSE HE WOULD NOT PERMIT THEM TO RAID THE SETTLEMENTS, AND DESERTED. EAGER TO REACH ALBANY, BURGOME NOW PLANNED TO ATTACK SCHUYLER AT BEMIS HEIGHTS.

© 1925 BY THE MCCLURE NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE.

AT THIS TIME SCHUYLER, WHO HAD PROVED TO BE AN ABLE LEADER, WAS REPLACED BY MAJOR-GENERAL GATES, A POOR SOLDIER BUT A CLEVER POLITICIAN, WHO STOOD HIGH IN THE FAVOR OF CONGRESS. THE LATER SUCCESS OF THE CAMPAIGN WAS DUE TO THE ABILITY OF GENERALS ARNOLD, MORGAN AND LINCOLN.

© 1925 BY THE MCCLURE NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE.

DESERTED BY HIS INDIAN ALLIES AND FACING AMERICAN FORCES WHICH DAILY GREW IN NUMBERS, BURGOME LAUNCHED AN ATTACK ON SEPTEMBER 19TH IN A DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO DRIVE OFF THE PATRIOT ARMY AND REACH ALBANY.

ADVANCING ON BEMIS HEIGHTS, BURGOME'S TROOPS WERE MET BY THE AMERICANS AT FREEMAN'S FARM, OR STILLWATER, AND A FIERCE STRUGGLE TOOK PLACE IN WHICH THE BRITISH LOST 500 MEN. NEITHER SIDE WON, BUT THE ADVANCE OF THE BRITISH WAS BLOCKED.

High Court Asked To Cite Indiana Anti-Saloon Head

Indianapolis, Ind., March 11.—(AP) Citation of Edward S. Shumaker, su- perintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league for contempt of court, was asked of the state supreme court by S. A. L. Gilliom, attorney general.

The request was made after the headquarters committee of the league had failed to retract statements made in Shumaker's annual report criticizing the attorney general for his presentation of appeals from liquor law convictions and comments upon reversals by the supreme court of prohibition cases.

The attorney general also requested the citation of Jesse E. Martin, a trustee of the league, and Ethan A. Miles, the league's attorney.

In his report Shumaker expressed a desire that "the next election would give the state a dry court instead of a wet one," and alluded to Benjamin F. Wiloughby, a supreme court justice, as a foe of prohibition.

The attorney general would not discuss the petition but he intimated that responsibility for the Shumaker statements rests primarily with the three men mentioned in the petition.

ROCKEFELLER GIVES DIME TO GIRL ON GOLF COURSE

Ormond Beach, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller was shy another dime today which he gave to Miss Margaret Hastings, of New York, yesterday following a discussion with her of the merits of golf.

It must have brought him good luck for immediately afterward he drove 150 yards from tee to green.

Then as he almost sank a long putt for a birdie two, he shouted for joy at his accomplishment of a drive of that distance this season. The ball hung on the lip of the cup and Mr. Rockefeller only had to tap it into the cup for a par three.

Miss Hastings, with whom he chatted interestingly, excels in archery, swimming, tennis, golf and other outdoor sports.

DISINHERITS WIFE BUT GIVES $5,000 TO CARE FOR DOGS

New Orleans, March 11.—Disinheriting both his wife and his daughter, the will of Adolph J. Munch, president of the American Can company, who died Wednesday, gives $5,000 for the care of his "two faithful dogs" and the remainder of his estate to his sister, Hermine Munch, of Hamburg, Germany.

The dogs are called Chito and Tront in the will. Fred Pitchford and Beatrice Valz are charged in the will with the care of these twin and of two other dogs if my wife does not claim them. The $5,000 will be divided share and share alike between Pitchford and Valz on the death of the dogs.

RESORT HOTEL BURNS IN NORTH CAROLINA

Greensboro, N. C., March 11.—(AP) Moore's Springs hotel, a resort hotel in Stokes county, and several of the surrounding cottages were destroyed by fire shortly before midnight Wednesday, it became known today. J. T. Bradshaw, manager of the resort, which is patronized only during the summer months, was the only person in the hotel at the time, it is said. He, with the aid of other men who were summoned, tried vainly to extinguish the flames. The loss is placed at about $60,000, partly covered by insurance. The hotel was owned by a stock company composed of Greensboro and Winston-Salem men.

MARSH DECLARES EDICT NOT TO CHANGE PLANS

Brockport, N. Y., March 11.—(AP)—Declaration of Foreign Minister Alfaro, of Panama, that Richard O. Marsh, explorer, will not be permitted to land on the Isthmus of Panama, should be set out upon a fourth expedition to the interior of the country, will not change proposed plans for the project, Mr. Marsh asserted at his home here today.

Richard Marsh Will Be Barred From Panama

Panama, March 11.—(AP)—Richard O. Marsh will not be allowed to land again on the isthmus, Foreign Minister Alfaro said in a statement today, commenting on the explorer's recent announcement that he was planning a fourth expedition to the country of the San Blas Indians.

Mr. Marsh was ordered from Panama a year ago after an uprising among the San Blas Indians. A presidential decree issued at that time said there was proof that the explorer had abused Panama's hospitality by aiding the Indians in an attempt to establish a republic.

A dispatch from Rochester, N. Y., on March 9 said that Marsh planned to go shortly to Washington to make arrangements for his fourth expedition. He expected to act as adviser for the Indians in negotiations between the United States and Panama by which the San Blas people hope to have set aside for them about two million acres on the Atlantic coast where they may be independent. He also planned to establish a school similar to the Carlisle Indian school, to give the Indians the elements of education. Later he hoped to go into the interior of the isthmus to search for ruins of ancient cities.

Mr. Marsh discovered the "white Indians" of Panama and brought several to the United States.

INSTALLMENT XVII. CELIA GIVES A DEMONSTRATION.

When Celia came out upon the stage and threw off her long bathing cloak preparatory to her first plunge, both doubters had what Mr. Abe afterwards described as the "gladdest jolt" of their lives.

Celia was a "fausse maigre," and, standing there in the glare of the great spotlight, her limbs gleamed round and white as peeled elm twigs. She wore a singlet of emerald green, and an emerald green rubber silk kerchief was tied over her flattened, closely bound hair. As she stretched her arms upward for her dive, she looked herself like a streak of light.

Then . . . Mr. Goldstein kept nudging Mr. Abe so vigorously that the latter gentleman at last put an empty orchestra chair between his ribs and that enthusiastic elbow.

"Gawd! Gawd!" murmured the other. "Ziska ain't in it with her . . . The Pollack's just a fat frog to her. . . . She ain't even a frog. . . . Just a hop toad what fell in the water by mistake. . . . Look at that, will you? . . . She ain't just a fish. . . . She's a flying fish. . . . She ain't just no human fish either. . . . She's a human goldfish—that what she is. Look here, Abe; you nail her now. . . . pay her handsome without dickerin', and she'll pay you handsomer in the end."

"You mind your own business and I'll see after mine," grunted Mr. Abe. "I ain't been in the profession going on thirty years to need you to learn me how to manage it."

"Well, don't get grouchy," said his conferee, "for I sure take off my hat to you. . . . I'd take off my scalp to you if it wasn't on so tight."

"Ssh!" was Mr. Abe's reply to this, and the two sat in silence watching Celia.

Mr. Goldstein could not repress an enthusiastic blasphemy, but Mr. Abe did not remonstrate. He sat with his eyes glued on the stage.

—like a streak of light.

Moisture had gathered at the corners of his closely folded lips. This was an invariable sign that his aversion and admiration were both profoundly stirred. He stood up in his place suddenly and called out:

"Say! He must be tired."

Celia, floating "spread-eagled" for a breathing spell, called back:

"Not at all. But the dive is too low for me to show you what I can really do."

"What she can really do!" breathed Mr. Goldstein softly.

Mr. Abe ignored this.

"You've shown me enough," he called back; "it's a deal if we can come to terms."

Dressed once more in her black gown and resplendent furs, Celia sat in Mr. Abe Sieburg's private office at the Sieburg theater with the potentate facing her again.

"Now," he was saying, "to get down to brass tacks. What are you looking to get?"

"I think I'll have to ask you to talk to my agent about that, Mr. Sieburg."

"Your agent? I thought you said you never was a professional. . . . You got a agent?"

"No," said Celia calmly, "but I shall have one by this time tomorrow."

"Huh!" said Mr. Abe. He had the natural dislike of most managers and publishers to agents.

"Some agents will do you same as anybody else."

"I'm not going to have one of that sort," said Celia.

Mr. Abe looked at her with regretful respect. He always had for people who were cautious about business deals; the regret was for the caution.

"Well, you can tell me how long you'll contract for, can't you?"

"Only a short time, I'm afraid."

"This was a big blow."

"How short?" he asked after a pause, grunting the words.

"One month."

Mr. Abe almost literally flew up in the air. It was unheard of . . . impossible . . . he couldn't even consider such a thing.

Celia rose, saying, "I'm sorry. Good afternoon," and started for the door. He bounced between her and it. He was very quick and agile when necessary.

"Don't go. . . . Second thoughts. . . ." he jerked. "It won't do no harm to talk about it anyhow."

Celia came back and sat down tranquilly.

"Why for only a month?" asked he.

"Because my husband's abroad now. I can only do it while he's away. I don't wish him to know about it till I've done it. Then I shall tell him. That's why I don't want my name known. I'm being quite frank with you, you see."

And her old smile just touched her lips.

Mr. Abe sat gazing now at her, now at the carpet. His hand played with the stub of pencil that he had taken from his waistcoat pocket. Celia explained further. Her voice had taken on a slight edge.

"So that you won't think there's some mystery, or possibly that I am stinted for money, I will tell you this also. Like many idle rich women, I haven't the least idea what I'm worth as a breadwinning human being. I want to find out, that's all."

Mr. Abe reflected ruefully that what she'd find out with the help of an up-to-snuff agent would probably astonish her.

"Look-a-here," he said in a burst, "if I did give you a month's contract would you bind yourself only to contract to me in future? . . . it you ever cared to take up the thing again."

"Yes—I'd be willing to do that," said Celia.

He drew a long breath, but inaudibly. He had invented an adage in which he firmly believed and which ran, "Once bit by the stage, always doped." This dark saying signified that in his opinion a woman who had once tasted the excitement of public applause would never be content afterwards to remain in private life.

"Done," he said quickly. "Bring your agent to this office at five tomorrow. That suit you?"

"Yes. Thanks," said Celia, and made as if to rise again, but he stopped her.

"Now that we're talking," he said, "I'd like to get your ideas about a name."

"What name?"

"Your professional name. You see, there's a lot of punch in a good name. I'll tell you what I mean. I've got to feature you. . . . I've looked gloomy all of a sudden. . . . It'll cost me—well—a pill, getting out new programs and paper and ads. . . ."

He shook off the depression that the mere thought of spending money, even when it meant a fat return, always caused him, and resumed in his ordinary voice:

"What I want is a . . ." He searched his vocabulary, which was limited, for a few seconds, then brought out, slapping his open hand on his desk:

"What I want is a grammatical name!"

Celia, at a loss, yet not wanting to show it, suggested:

"Euphonious!"

"What's needed is something catchy, with a punch. . . . grammatical."

"I'll try to think up one," said Celia, racking her brain to imagine what the little name could mean.

"Now for a sub-title. . . . We've called Ziska 'the Human Fish.'"

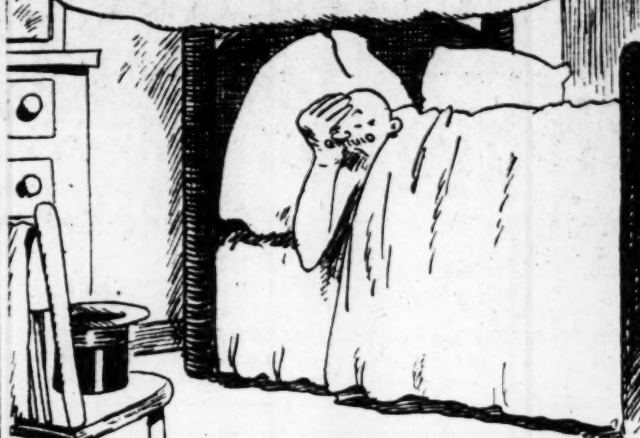

"How would 'The Masked Mermaid' do?" said Celia. "I shall wear a mask."

"Masked Mermaid! . . . two 'Ms' . . . 'Masked Mermaid' . . . he repeated, savoring the alliteration. "Fine! You won't even need another name with that."

FORSYTH PATRONS SEE FEATURE BILL FOR LAST OF WEEK

Harry Norwood and Alpha Hall in a comedy sketch, "And She Believed Him," swept Thursday night's audience at Keith's Forsyth theater, the opening of the week-end bill. Based on the credibility of a young thing, the entire sketch affords a good deal of laughter and tops a feature offering.

Margie Cantor, "The Queen of Synopology," lived up to her sobriquet in the three programs Thursday, giving a fine impression of her versatility and leaving the audience clamoring for more.

"Poppy Land Revue," another exceptionally high class offering, received its share of applause. Frank Whitman and company, presenting "The Wrong," is one of the best acts seen at Keith's theater in many months and furnished thrills and laughs aplenty Thursday night.

"Medley of Variety Bits," in which Elizabeth Nelson and Harry Hove co-star, is a fine piece of work and proved refreshing in the comedy and variety line. Miss Nelson is an accomplished artist and receives excellent support from her partner.

A Pathe news reel and comedy film open the bill.

HIGDON IS GUILTY OF KILLING GIRL HE WAS TO WED

Wewoka, Okla., March 11.—(AP)—Erman P. Higdon was found guilty of first degree murder by a jury in district court here tonight and sentenced to life imprisonment. He was charged with killing his sweetheart, Rita May Gosa, on February 14, two hours before they were to have been married.

Higdon himself told most of the story. He had known Rita May four years, he said; had learned to love her and had won her promise to marry him about a year ago. Their wedding was to have been on February 14. Their little home, which he had built, was ready.

With scarcely two hours remaining before the ceremony, he went to Rita May's home, intending to go from there to the church. They were left alone. The girl told him, he said, that there was something he must know before the ceremony. It was that she expected to become a mother. The child, he declared, was not his.

8-INCH FORCEPS REMOVED FROM WOMAN'S ABDOMEN

(By Special Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Paris, Ill., March 11.—A weird story from Charleston, S. C., is being told here. Mrs. John Mock, an aged and well-known citizen, submitted to an abdominal operation and attending surgeons were astonished to find rusted 8-inch forceps in the abdominal cavity.

Two years ago Mrs. Mock was operated on, but she never recovered. She grew steadily worse until the cause of the trouble was revealed by the second operation.

Covetta Game Warden Makes High Record In Licenses Sold

Newnan, Ga., March 11.—(Special.)—Rev. E. C. Smith, pastor of several Baptist churches in Covetta county, and who is also game warden, has one of the best records of any warden in west Georgia for the number of hunting licenses sold during the past hunting season.

Rev. Smith sold licenses to 671 white people, and colored people he sold 439, making a total of 1,110 sold. Rev. Smith is so vigilant that it is practically impossible for a man to violate the hunting laws in this county.
